OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24, 1880.

What in the name of Santa Claus is the use of having a carnival of Christmas goods when the wind blew such an avalanche of dust in the eyes of shoppers as to dim the lustres of many a gift-tree in prospective! (we do not mean the "dust" of the Pacific slope, would that it were.) Yet there were lovely things to see "for a' that," and neither shifting street sands nor atmosphere which pierced to the marrow of one's bones caused any diminution of interest in the goods prepared for gift-seekers in every quarter of the great, gay city.

The Winter Magazine tells its own story better than I can, dear reader, and is, beside, invaluable as a book of reference in any household. This review of business from the publisher's standpoint is a master stroke on the part of dealers to furnish an intellectual feast to patrons remote from the great mercantile centres, interspersed with such information relative to the style and purchase of needful articles as will vouchsafe to buyers upon the great Pacific boundary the immunities afforded to residents in New York and other points of contignity.

But to return to the "Greybeard King," who is just now master of wa's and ceremonies. The custom of gift-giving at Christmas originated in the Roman Campagnalia, and has since been observe, as a season of offering upon every shrine. Someway, the recurrence of that old, sweet story of Bethlehem opens even the coffers of the miser at this period. Deeds of charity are many, for it is easy to remember that the lowliest life may have the grandest ending; and these are tempered by the great human love which was the guiding star of the one pure, perfect life which was unmarred by contact with the lower world. These generous feelings are masterful at this period as they are divine! Yet every expenditure should be tempered by judgement, and characterized by such fitness as will prove prolific of the best results, especially indulged upon the common ground of necessity. To the young, such gifts may prove educators of the highest order, if individual tendencies be consulted in the offering.

The facilities for gratifying one's taste for perfection and variety in home adornments of every class and character are endless. Antique tendencies put one's knowledge of history to the test. Trophies from ancient altars are laid upon every household shrine where Croesus and the Panthomistic Gods hold carnival. Almost every home is an art temple of taste about which trophies of early masters cluster.

The furnishing is sometimes the work of years; yet it is a glorious thing to have the elements of culture about us always, permeating every phase of material ministration. To see the golden foot-prints of progress upon the snows of the merry Christmastime; to hear the joy-bells of Bethlehem keeping time to the muscular march of human enterprise, and to know that we gain so much by the lapse of every twelvemonth; that the question of mutual helpfulness is answered in all its thousand phases; that the wise dealer in giving purchasers the best thing for their money, helps the buyer to better things and increases facilities for enthroning Santa Clause, and making everybody happy.

It is a beautiful thing to find how many children throughout the land believe Mr. Edward Ridley to be a veritable Santa Claus, because from year to year, the best and prettiest things in the Christmas stockings come from that great Emporium of the East Side, where the electric lights complete the delusion of a veritable fairyland, and the clicking of the thousand small, silent emissaries, traversing their shining belts, are as sweetest music to the untutored ear. By the by, en passant, victims of previous systems vote this method of returning change, (as yet employed by no other house) the most complete in the city. One is scarcely kept a minute waiting, and time is gold—this one aid to purchasers has increased four fold the patrons of this solid house, from which all buyers, whether they be small devotees in search of Santa Claus, or the dealer laying in his stock of wholesale millinery, go away satisfied to return again.

The small boy a—potentate of power at this period is more than usually happy in his accustomed Holiday Gift Book from Baldwin, the clothier, who, if he isn't Santa Claus, is a being quite as beneficent; and if periodical issues resolved themselves into a question of the identities, I think Madge Elliott would somehow take the form of the Blessed Virgin to the comprehension of the incipient devotee of long trousers and "top" coats in some "Merry Christmas" to come.

What is a Cold Bath?

The season of the year, says the Lancet, when very many people who have experienced pleasure and advantage from a daily cold bath have to discontinue it has come. Months will elaps before the return of genial weather will allow of their indulgence in what may be termed man's natural stimulant. Among the young and robust there are a large number who are able to bathe even in the depths of winter. The advantage of so doing is, however, unquestionabel. But let it be once well understood what a cold bath really is, and the course by which we can avoid Scylla and Charybdis will be obvious. A cold bath is not necessarily a bath in water of the temperature of the atmosphere. A bath is truly and really cold when it produces certain physiological effects—a slight momentary shock, followed by pleasant and lasting reaction. These effects are, for the majority of people, most pleasantly obtained by bathing in water about thirty-five degrees to forty degrees below the temperature of the body—the usual temperatures of unheated water in June and July. Bearing this in mind, we can enjoy our physiological "cold" bath as safely and pleasantly at Chrisimas as at midsummer, and there is no necessity for the most timid or weakly to discontinue his morning tub because the summer weather is over. When the water sinks below the temperature of sixty degress, let it be heated to that point and then used, and we shall still have our "cold" bath, though of heated water. The daily stimulant effect of such a bath is so beneficial to the great majority of persons, and is of such marked service in maintaining health, that it is very important to have it widely known that a cold bath may be taken all the year round, provided cold is not mistaken to mean "at the temperature of the outer air." To heat our bath during the winter months is often thought to be unmanly, while in reality it is truly scientific; and to bathe in unheated water all the year round, whatever the temperature of that water may be, is to prove one's self an ignorant slave of outward circumstances.

United States Lands.

The Sacramento Land District comprises a very large extent of territory, and embraces all classes of lands. The principal portion of the lands susceptible of successful cultivation have been entered, but there is a very large quantity of mineral, timber and grazing lands in the foothills and mountainous portions still belonging to the Government. The United States Land Office for this District is located in this city, of which Ed. F. Taylor is Register and H. O. Beatty Receiver. The business transacted is yet large, though declining each year as the lands are disposed of. During the year just closed applications for lands have been filed as follows: Two hundred and twenty-five for pre-emption, embracing about 30,000 acres; 242 by homestead, for about 25,000 acres; 57 applications have been filed under the timber land Act, for about 7,000 [illegible] 117 applications under [illegible] timber Acts have been [illegible] about 14,000 [illegible] tions ha[illegible] made [illegible] b[illegible]

Venison in Search of a Market.

Under this caption the Virginia City Enterprise of the 16th relates the following: "A fine deer was yesterday morning observed looking down from the mountain at the head of the canyon on a line with Sutton avenue. The animals having been driven out of the Sierra Nevada mountains by the late snow storm are now making across to the eastern 'inland' regions. Old hunters say that in early times the deer had a trail across the ridge back of this city down through Six-mile canyon and over to the Como mountains. It would seem that the present generation of deer by instinct still seek to follow this old-time trail, though it now leads down almost through the center of the city. The deer of to-day, when arrived in sight of the town, must have a high opinion of the boldness of their ancestors who could march directly through the camp of their great enemy, man."

The "Raquette."

It is neither a waltz nor a polka, though the best parts of both are preserved. The music strikes up with a crash, as though a new volcano had broken out, and the girl will cling tightly as though frightened, if she understand, and the young man will reassure her by a gentle pressure if he understands the dance or knows anything at all. At the second crash they dodge, as though somebody had thrown a blacksmith shop at them, and then start in. Then begin to imitate the struggle for life, representing a person drowning, but at each crash of the cymbals and base drum they dodge and scoot sideways and dart back again, jam each other sideways, and then as the crash of music becomes more deafening and terrible they try to drive each other through the floor by main strength, get desperate and claw and tear and pull, and all at once they go raving mad with hydrophobia and delirium tremens, and gnash their teeth and suffer the most terrible agony—and it's all over. It is a short dance, as the design is amusement and not murder. But short as it is it is said to be very sweet, and they call it the "Raquette."

Death of Amos T. Laird.

"Uncle Amos" has passed beyond the river. In the early and flush days of Nevada county Amos T. Laird was one of the best known of all our citizens. He went to Nevada City in 1851, and then he was a pushing and energetic man. He made money and he gave it. He was a large employer of men, and was never known to refuse to give an applicant work and assistance. He had a generosity that knew no bounds. Of course the world got the better of him, as it did of whom he was, during the [illegible] race for wealth outstripped [illegible]ch and we trust happy. [illegible] bones will be rattled [illegible]ion he did so much [illegible] knew him.—Free

For Neuralgia.

For neuralgia in the face or other acute suffering elsewhere, the following remedy has been recommended: Cut a thick slice of bread all across the loaf—fresh bread is the best. Soak one side for a minute in boiling water, and rapidly sprinkle cayenne pepper over the hot side. Apply while still smoking hot to the painful surface. The bread retains the heat long enough for the cayenne pepper to begin to act, and cayenne does not affect the delicate skin as mustard does. It acts as a rubefacient, but not a blister.

The above notice went the rounds of the papers, and finally reached the eyes of young William Makepeace Thackeray Jackson, of this village, who, being a sufferer from a severe neuralgic attack on the left side of his face, concluded to test what virtue there might be in the prescription. This was a week ago, and yester

SAFE GROUND.

The Jeffersonian Democratic Association of York, Pennsylvania has, adopted a Constitution and By-laws suited to this and all time, as it covers the ground of the Democartic party. The "platform" of this association reads as follows; "Its purpose shall be the association of Jeffersonian Democrats for the preservation of the Constitution of the United States, the autonomy of the States, home rule, freedom of elections; for resistance to revolutionary changes, tending to consolidation or empire; to the election of any person to the Presidency a third time; to the presence of regular troops at the polls; to any appropriation of public money to any purpose but the support of government; to commercial restrictions for the benefit of the few at the cost of the many; and to class legislation, which destroys the natural freedom of trade, and despoils labor to build up monopoly. To these ends we invoke the spirit and reassert the principles of Thomas Jefferson, the author of the Declaration of Independence and the founder of the Democratic party." These sentiments and principles will do for the Democracy to stay by and to tie to, because they are sound and enduring; and if the government is preserved in the form of a republic it can only be done by carrying out the principles this Association has enunciated. Of course there is nothing new in them; they are as old as the country, and as good as could be wished. A good thing will bear frequent repeating, and especially at this time are those cherished, time-honored principles worthy of reproduction. The York Association has honored itself in laying down so sound a platform.

Senator Wallace on the Democratic Party.

Mr. Wallace's paper in the North American Review, entitled "The Mission of the Democratic Party," is brief; but every sentence contains an important lesson. His description of the growth and power of Federal patronage, in connection with "corporations, monoplists, and wealthy men," is, in the estimation of the New York Sun, worthy of Franklin himself, and is especially startling as the observation of one of the most sagacious and most conservative of Democratic politicians. Mr. Wallace depicts the tremendous progress of centralization, aided by patronage and money, in the hands of officeholders, and protected business interests, constituting a favored class; and he insists upon an immediate return to the "ancient theories," and the "intelligent rule of the masses." It sounds a little strange to hear a Pennsylvania Senator demanding a revision of the tariff for the benefit of the public; and yet that is precisely what Mr. Wallace means, when he declares for "a thorough inquiry into taxation for revenue and its readjustment upon a basis just to every interest and to all the people." The Sun further observes that Senator Wallace does not believe the Democratic party can die while it stands for the rights of the people, as it is bound to do by the very law of its existence. "The hour for its triumph," he concludes, "will have come, when it boldly asserts its true theories and ignores the blandishments of money, monopoly, and corrupt power. He whose interests, judgment, or teachings are adverse to the judgment of the masses, will join its enemies; but in his room it will recruit scores of those in whose interest it strikes, or who repeect its attitude and detest strong government. The future of the Democratic party is the future of the republic."

Mammoth "Record-Union."

The New Years Day number of the Sacramento Record-Union was indeed a mammoth newspaper, comprising twenty eight-column pages, nearly the whole of the immense sheet being occupied with important statistical matter embraced in its annual business and general review. Of course Sacramento came in for a large share of this space, but the State, the Nation, indeed we might almost say the whole world, is brought before the reader in this exhaustive review, as considerable space is devoted to foreign countries. We doubt if this number of the Record-Union has ever been equalled on the Pacific Coast.

The region of country to be traveled by the proposed Carson and Colorado railroad, a distance of 500 miles, is extremely rich in minerals. It is said that it will either pass over or near mines of gold, silver, copper, lead, iron, antimony and the like, and will also tap a country in which are large fields of salt, soda, borax, alum, sulphur and other mineral treasures, as chromate of iron, ochre and earths of various kinds and colors, marble, gypsum, alabaster, jasper and other kinds of stone.

Both branches of the Legislature organized on the first day of the session. Hon. William Johnston, of Sacramento, was elected President pro tem. of the Senate, and Hon. W. H. Parks, of Yuba, speaker of the Assembly. The annual message of Governor Perkins was read and occupies a full page of the Record-Union in very small type. We hope to give a summary of the message tomorrow.

Hon. F. E. Baker, Representative from Yolo county in the Legislature, on Tuesday introduced in the Assembly an Act to provide for the classification of municipal corporations, an Act to provide for the incorporation of municipal corporations, and an Act to provide for the government of municipal corporations of the fifth class, accompanied by a memorial.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

[Condensed from the Bee's Summary.]

Governor George C. Perkins has presented his annual message to the Senate and Assembly of this State.

He thinks the first duty of the Legislature will be to thoroughly investigate the new Constitution, to weed out those portions which the Courts have declared unconstitutional and inquire if there are not others which, when tested, might share the same fate.

The finances of the State are in a satisfactory condition.

The Controller recommends that in the purchase of bonds for the State School Land Fund the Statute be so changed as to allow the Board of Examiners to go into open market and purchase as freely as a private individual. There is in this Fund $97,665.-08, lying idle in the State Treasury.

The interest-bearing Funded Debt of the State on June 30th, 1880, was $3,396,500, all of which is owned by the State with the exception of $713,000. If some practical way cannot be devised to cancel these bonds, and make appropriations direct for the purposes named, the Governor recommends that the Funded Debt bonds (under the Act of April 1, 1870), amounting to $2,801,000, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, be paid by the issuance of bonds bearing four per cent per annum.

Notwithsanding the increase in valuation of taxable property the rate of taxation has been one and a half cents higher on the dollar than it was last year. This is explained by the great increase in necessary appropriations, which amounted to $728,812, the addition of five cents for drainage purposes, etc.

The Governor does not think that the statement of the State Board of Equalization, that property has not been assessed up to its value is correct. The Board bases its idea upon the fact that much property is mortgaged to the extent of 67.41 per cent of the value, set upon it. This is because there was an inflation of values all over the State when those mortgages were given.

Personal property has not borne its proper share of taxation, and it is hardly possible, under the circumstances, that it will. What is needed is that the term "value" be more strictly and closely defined.

The Governor believes in the recommendation by the Board of Equalization that assessments be made but once in four years.

The public schools cost over $300,000 annually. The average daily attendance is over 100,000, but yet there are over 50,000 children in the State who have never attended any school, and it is a question which demands consideration from every thinking citizen whether some form of compulsory education should not be enacted. The Normal school, running at an expense of $34,-000 per annum, is an investment both wise and judicious. After speaking some flattering words for the State University, the Governor goes on to the subject of judicial reform, and, under this head, indulges in some very sensible remarks. He believes legal services too costly, justice too slow, briefs too long and red tape too numerous. As the County Government bill has been declared unconstitutional, it devolves upon the Legislature to frame a bill that will not be in conflict with the organic law. In that bill taxation should be limited to as low a rate as will suffice to serve the public interest. Rates of taxation are now too high and taxpayers are no longer in a condition to respond to heavy demands.

In no event should cities and towns of the smaller classes be authorized to levy an annual tax of more than fifty (50) cents on the hundred dollars.

In speaking of transportation, the Governor says: "It is the peculiarity of transportation that its own highest interest is best subserved in encouraging production, promoting prosperity and creating wealth. Its most selfish consideration, therefore, contemplates the highest general welfare.

At its last session the Legislature passed an Act "For the promotion of the viticultural interests of the State," consisting of nine commissioners, and made a liberal appropriation to enable it to discharge its duties. The creation of all such commissions is at variance with the theory underlying the Act of the State in creating a State Board of Agriculture. The State cannot equitably accord to a single important interest the valuable auxiliary of a special commission and deny a similar service to other interests of equal importance.

There is a necessity for an authorized Commissioner of Immigration. The tide of immigration to this State has been almost wholly arrested during the past five years. There is no better time for the State to impart information in regard to its resources than at present.

Our present laws not only do not provide for the issuance of definite water rights, but make no provision for the prevention of waste, and no provision for the adequate organization to construct irrigation works. Systematic and economical irrigation is thus defeated, except where monopoly gives full swing over the local field. Men of small means looking for homes are frightened away by this state of affairs, while large capitalists are offered a premium, as it were, to come and control a whole colony or county. I respectfully suggest that you so consider the question, that our laws on this subject will not be an impediment to practical development of the lands of the State; and that the small homes will be encouraged to multiply and increase.

The discipline of the prisons has worked well, but there should be some changes. Prisoners should be classified, because it is only propagating crime to allow youthful offenders, capable of reformation, to mingle with old and hardened convicts.

The Prison Directors have concluded to set the prisoners to work manufacturing jute bags, etc. The market for this production is almost without limit. If successful in their undertaking, it will have the double advantage of reducing the cost of grain by reducing the cost of sacks, a need which every farmer will acquiesce in, and will tend to lessen the cost of taxation, in aiding the self-support of the prison.

Judges should be compelled to send prisoners to the nearest prison.

The Governor is in favor of a State Boys' Reform School.

Reference is made to the reports of officers in charge of the insane asylums, from which it appears that on June 30th there were 1,-116 persons in the Stockton asylum and 839 in the one at Napa. Many of these are harmless and could be kept at home, or, as is done in some Eastern States, sent to the hospital.

Yosemite Valley he looks upon as an excellent paying investment. It not only brings visitors to our State who spend no inconsiderable sum annually, but it makes known to all the world our great resources. The Legislature should yearly appropriate a sufficient sum to keep all the drives, parks and roads in good order.

Orphan asylums should be careful whom they admit, and proper restrictions should be observed in the admission of those seeking homes. The power should be given the asylums to apprentice the inmates, or permit their adoption, as the case might be, with the authority at all times to inquire as to the manner in which such child is cared for, and if improperly or inhumanly treated, to place the matter in the hands of the District Attorney of the county in which said child has been apprenticed or adopted.

In apportioning the State into Congressional districts, a just and equitable adjustment should be made. The diversified interests of the State should have a representation in the national council. There can be no doubt but that California will be entitled to five members of Congress with a possible chance of six.

A decrease of over $28,000,000 indebtedness to the banks during the last two years is most flattering to our prosperity.

He presents to the Legislature for their consideration the claims of women to vote at school elections, recommends an appropriation for the Commissioners from California to the World's Fair in New York in 1883, and concludes with some general remarks.

The annual number of Vick's Floral Guide for 1881 came to hand in splendidly designed covers this year, exhibiting, even before opening it, the elegant taste of its author. Its illustrations are strikingly beautiful, and the instructions it gives are of great value to horticultural and floral gradeners. Send ten cents to James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., and procure a copy.

General Sherman on California.

New York, December 29.—At a reception of the Merchants' Association of Boston on Monday, General Sherman recited his early experience in going to California, and said: "I was in California a few days ago, and they talk of a thousand ships of 1,000 tons each as being necessary to carry the wheat of that country. The products of California, I believe, are second or third of the great States of this nation for shipment abroad; and all the creation of our day! There are merchants in San Francisco, I suppose, as good as you. There are ships as fine as any that sail out of your harbor; manufacturing establishments where thirty years ago you could not get your horse shod; hotels which surpass in magnificence those in Paris, or New York, or Boston—all the creation of our own day. You men of Boston have had your share in it, and in doing so you have accomplished more in your lives than probably any merchants of old Phœnicia, or Greece, or Venice, or any land on earth."

The addition was made at half-past eleven o'clock on New Year's evening, when a baby was born, who hereafter will be called Oomdat, to the twelve-year-old bride of Abboolally. Good Templars' Social.

The Good Templars of Woodland with their invited guests met at their hall on Friday evening to see the old year out and the new one in. The evening passed off very pleasantly. Numerous amusing games were introduced, and after a time spent in this way the company were called to order and treated to an impromptu literary programme consisting of instrumental and vocal music, readings and recitations, among them the essay by Bro. Loomis which we give below. As the hands of the clock indicated the hour of the old year's departure and the introduction of the new a general hand-shaking was indulged in and mutual good wishes were exchanged. "Happy New Year!" "Happy New Year!" was the general cry."

Take it all together, the social was a complete success. All felt that the evening had been pleasantly and profitably spent. It would be a good thing for the Lodge if we were so situated that we could have these gatherings oftener.

ESSAY READ BY B. F. LOOMIS.

Worthy Chief Templar, Brothers, Sisters and friends: As we are gathered here upon this, the last evening of the old year, we are reminded by the constant swinging to and fro of the pendulum, and the ceaseless tick, tick, tick of the clock, that in a few short hours the old year eighteen hundred and eighty will have gone into the eternity of the past, never to be recalled: we shall then enter with bright hopes and happy anticipations of the future, upon the New Year. But none can tell until time has drawn its mantle over the olosing scenes of 1881, whether those hopes and anticipations will be realized or not. But now, just before the last spark of the old year has expired, will it not be well for us to look back over the pages that have been written in life's album since the beginning of 1880, and study the history of the battles that have been fought, and the victories that have been won, and learn from the lessons there taught and the experiences of the past, something that will aid us in laying our plans for the work that must be done and the battles that must be fought in the year 1881. Life is a constant warfare. Every day we meet with trials, temptations and allurements, that require a continual battle to overcome them, and how many thousands there are who are overcome by the pernicious customs of society, and the evil influences of bad associations.

It is against these customs and associations, in connection with "King Alcohol," that a great battle is being waged over the whole length and breadth of our land. We believe that the Independent Order of Good Templars (the grandest, best and noblest society ever organized by man) are the leaders in this great struggle for that which we believe is right, and against that which we believe is wrong. They are the pioneers who build the roads and bridge the streams so that other brigades and regiments of Temperance people may follow after and assist in the great work that lies before us. The reasons why we believe they are the leaders in this great struggle for the right are, because they are united, and in unity there is strength. We can lay our plans more successfully than we possibly could if we were working alone, for then how easily could our influence be broken and scattered to the four winds of heaven. There are thousands of earnest and true temperance men and women who think they are doing as much for the advancement of the temperance cause as they could if their influence was united with others. And right there is where they make a fatal mistake, and consequently, their influence is almost entirely lost. When General Sherman began his celebrated "March to the Sea," it was almost a constant battle-field until he reached Atlanta, and inch by inch, step by step, he fought his way, but it was only by the united efforts of every man in that great army that he succeeded.

Sherman and his officers laid their plans of battle and then executed them by presenting a solid front to the enemy, and by earnest work they succeeded in driving the enemy from their fortifications and strongholds until they were compelled to give up the contest. If Sherman when he began his march had sent an order to his entire army, that each man should make and execute his own plans and work independently of all others, when do you think he would have reached the sea? This is only a fair illustration of the march that lies before us. The enemy we have to contend with is strongly fortified and intrenched, with plenty of gold to back them up, and in many of the States are able to dictate who shall hold the reins of government; and until we can succeed in arousing the people and creating a public sentiment strong enough to unite the whole influence of those who are in favor of good laws, good order and morality we can succeed in accomplishing but very little towards gaining the victory. How are we to do this? By scattering temperance literature, by agitating the question from the rostrum and pulpit, keeping it constantly before the minds of the people.

In looking back over the history of the year that is just passing away, we find that in some States fierce battles have been fought, and while we did not hear the roar of artillery, and the clashing of steel, mingled with the groans of the wounded and dying, we saw the contest waged by scattering temperance literature over the States, by the voice of eloquence, spoken by able orators, by earnest women pleading for the welfare of their homes, and finally by the most powerful weapon of them all, the ballot was the victory won. In Kansas, where the contest raged the fiercest, was the victory most complete. Upon the platform of Prohibition, forever prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors in the State, stood the gallant St. Johns, who led the contest, assisted by that eloquent orator Geo. W. Eain, of Kentucky, and many others, the people by thirty thousand majority spoke the decree, forever banishing the curse of intemperance from that State. Following after comes Iowa and Michigan and Nebraska, in fact, all over the eastern States this battle is being fought and will be waged until every State has won the victory. Here in California, with its mild and beautiful climate, its rich and fertile valleys so well adapted to the growing of the vine, we have an element to contend with that no other State in the Union can ever have, and that is the wine interests. I am afraid that with a Legislature to spend the peoples money experimenting in the interest of wine producing, that California is destined to become a wine cursed State. I see by the petitions being circulated through the entire State that the contest is being carried on in our own State, but I am fearful that with the present Legislature a petition of names five miles long would be cast aside with but very little notice, and yet they ought to give the people an opportunity to decide for themselves whether they will license these saloons with all their contaminating influences or not.

To those who are not members of this organization let me say if you cannot or will not unite with us, and by so doing strengthen this grand army of workers in this part of God's vineyard, strive in some way to unite your influence with ours, by working with us outside the Lodge room; assist us what you can by speaking an encouraging word to us and for us. While we are gathered here to-night in this pleasant hall to witness the dying hours of the year 1880 and the birth of the year 1881, we cannot help but think it is the last time we shall all meet together on earth, for at the close of 1881 no doubt some of us will have passed over the river, and there will be some vacant chairs on next New Year's eve. Then will it not be well for each of us to begin at the commencement of the New Year to lay our plans and fight our battles so that when we are called to lay off our armor we can say with one of old, "I have fought good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." I will now close by bidding the old year a sad farewell, and by wishing you ... Year.

Templars and temperance people, but of al who believe in the rule of the majority.

They are meeting with a very cordial reception so far. Cacheville has already attached over 90 names to the one copy they have. Davisville had 110 at last account. Woodland has three copies in circulation and is doing well, but as we have seen but one we cannot report the number of signatures. But from the looks of that copy we judge that a large list of names will be sent from this place.

Other places we have not heard from but we suppose they are doing equally well.

Push it along ladies and gentlemen. Let's send up a rousing petition whether it does any good or not.

Sad Death.

A gloom was cast over this community last Sunday by the announcement of the sudden death of Miss Ida M. Burleson, only daughter of Mrs. Burleson, brother-in law of C. B. Culver of this city. Although only a resident of Woodland about one year, yet the deceased had endeared herself to many friends by her gentle manners and winning ways. On Friday, she, in company with other young people, met for social recreation at the residence of John Hollingsworth, Esq., and on that occasion was prominent among the guests in contributing to the evening's pleasures. Yesterday morning she was feeling exceptionally bright and well, and at the appointed hour repaired to the Congregational Church to meet her class in Sunday School. While engaged in the duties pertaining to her position there she suddenly, without a moment's warning, became speechless, and sank down in the pew, stricken with paralysis, surviving the stroke only about five hours after being conveyed to her home. Thus, just as she had developed into pure and perfect womanhood; just as the New Year, which gave promise of many happy days, had broken bright upon her life; while engaged in the pleasant duty of directing the minds and hearts of little children to the Mercy Seat, she was stricken down and summoned away to cross the dark valley and join the innumerable hosts beyond. While we deplore the sudden removal of one so worthy of esteem and love, yet we find consolation in the fact that she died in the service of her Maker, and that ever lasting peace is assured to her in the hereafter; and it is to be hoped that her sweet example will not be lost upon those who are left to mourn her departure.

The New Foundry and Machine Shops.

We this morning took a look at the work being done for the new machine shop and foundry of C. C. Kane & Co., in connection with their recently purchased planing mill, near the railroad, and found that the large new building on the west of the planing mill is well under way, under the superintendence of Mr. Blake, who took the contract to do the carpenter work. The building will be a very large one, the frame of which is already up. The planing mill, machine shop, blacksmith shop and foundry occupy separate apartments, but will be connected sufficiently for convenience. The machinery is now mostly on the ground, and at the rate the building is being pushed forward, will soon be in operation. The company has plenty of room in the rear, one strip running through to Court street. They design erecting sheds here for sheltering engines, separators and other machinery. A corps of first class workmen has already been secured, and this, in addition to the fact that the proprietors are practical men, will insure the best of work to their patrons and in consequence success for themselves. Woodland—the whole Sacramento Valley—is to be congratulated on having such an establishment started here.

We can only wish the best of luck to him, and take pleasure in recommending him to the people of the community where he proposes to make his future home.

"The Esquon, or Gridley grant, lying on the east side of Butte, near Nelson Station, has been sold by the Trustees of the Gridley estate to Governor Leland Stanford, for the sum of $850,000. This grant contains over 15,000 acres of the finest farming land in that section of the county. We believe that it is the intention of Governor Stanford to convert the grant into a stock farm."

About one o'clock Saturday afternoon a little daughter of Dr. George H. Jackson, while playing about the floor of the second story of the partially completed residence of her father, on the corner of Main street and Oak avenue, fell through an aperture to the floor beneath, and was quite seriously though not dangerously hurt. Luckily no bones were broken, and it is thought she sustained no serious internal injuries.

The following shows the amount of taxes collected up to Monday evening, Dec. 27th, the date at which the five per cent. for delinquencies was added: State and county tax, $159,809.75; Drainage tax, $4,785.77; Buckeye School, $612.67; North Grafton School, $1,220.55; Fillmore, $1,883.03; Putah, $549.34; Road Poll, $183; State Poll, $261. Total collections, $169,282.11, leaving a balance of about $32,500 yet to be collected.

County Clerk Smith during 1880 issued 70 marriage licenses. His books also show that during the year 111 civil suits have been commenced in the Superior Court, and 23 estates of deceased persons have been administered upon. There have been 22 criminal suits docketed in the Superior Court, a majority of the defendants being convicted of crimes ranging from assault to murder in the first degree. Thirty-four applicants have been admitted to citizenship in this county during the year.

The second session of the present College year of Hesperian College commenced this morning with the usual prosperous outlook. The faculty remains the same with the exception of the principalship of the Primary department, Mrs. F. A. Pedler having succeeded Miss Lawson, who resigned the position at the close of the last session. We hope to see the College continue to flourish and grow in popularity, as under the present management it is a first class institution of learning, and an honor to its founders and to the people of Yolo county.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of A. Nickelsburg & Bro., who are offering their immense stock of general merchandise at an average reduction of 20 per cent. to reduce stock before taking an inventory. During a period of ten years this house has done business with our people and proved its entire reliability in every particular. Its proprietors pride themselves on doing a straightforward, legitimate business, and now that this extraordinary inducement is offered to purchasers, they will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain supplies at reduced rates.

The Sportsman's Club of this city perfected an organization last Saturday by the adoption of a Constitution and By-laws, and the election of permanent officers, as follows: President, Geo. W. Bentley; Vice-President, D. H. Wyckoff, Secretary, H. U. Ogburn; Treasurer, Wm. Voorhees. The initiation fee was fixed at one dollar, and the following members were enrolled: George Dinsdale, A. O. Elbes, Wm. Voorhees, W. L. Scott, F. C. Wyckoff; Geo. W. Bentley, Frank Sprague, H. U. Ogburn and D. H. Wyckoff. On motion, the Cosmopolitan rules governing shooting were adopted. The Club adjourned to meet on Saturday, Jan. 8th, 1881.

Mr. A. A. Dildine, the gentleman who recently purchased the building now occupied by Mr. Glendinning, called upon us this morning in the way of business, and we learned from him that he designs locating permanently with his family in Woodland. Mr. Dildine has the general agency of the Household sewing machine, and will make this his principal business when he takes possession of his building, about the middle of this month, but will also sell the New Home, New Eldridge, Crown and other sewing machines and attachments. We are glad to welcome new business accessions to our city and especially men with families.

New Year's day passed off very quietly at this place. The north wind blew stiffly during the day, and the air was quite chilly although not disagreeably so. Many people who live in neighboring towns, as well as farmers and others, made their appearance on the streets. The stores all seemed to be doing a thriving business until they were closed in the afternoon. The grand turkey and glass ball shooting was in progress at the race course during the day, although the prevailing wind interrupted the sport to a considerable degree. Several ladies, assisted by friends, held receptions at their homes, and during the afternoon making calls was the order among a majorit[illegible]

Mrs. Webber, with her force of assistants, is now again prepared to receive and attend to the wants of customers.

On the eve of New Years a white man and an Indian got into an altercation in Moore's Saloon and indulged in a regular rough and tumble fight which was kept up until both parties were so exhausted that they could fight no longer. Officer Conlter appeared on the scene in time to place the disturbers of the peace under arrest. He had considerable difficulty in inducing the Indian to accompany him to the lockup, but the pugilistic aborigine finally succumbed to the persuasive eloquence of a stout locust club and went. Yesterday the defendants were admitted to bail and allowed their freedom until to-morrow, when they will appear for trial on charge of fighting and disturbing the peace.

Our City Fathers.

The Town Board of Trustees met at the Town Hall in regular session last Monday evening, and the following business was transacted: There were present Trustees Frazer, Andrews, Hall and Rhodes. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The monthly reports of the Town Clerk and Marshal were received and ordered on file, after which the following claims were allowed: R. H. Newton & Co., for lumber for street crossings, $2.60. R. H. Newton & Co., for bridge on West street, $17.78. Porter & Boots, for hauling gravel, etc., $61.50. Jno. Q. Brown, gas, $46.00; W. W. Porter, services as engineer, $20; W. H. Winne, labor and material on the lockup, $2.50; Mat Tackney, meals for prisoners, $2.50; Donald Frazer, salary as President of Board to Nov. 17th, 1880, $100; D. M. Burns, rent of Town Hall, etc., to Jan. 1st, 1881, $150; Wm. Coulter, services as night watchman, $80; David Barnes, lumber and labor for street crossing, $13.08; E. R. Bush, correcting map for assessment purposes, $40; G. W. Myrick, laying plank street crossing, $1.50; G. W. Andrews, erecting lamp post and lamp, $12. Services as Treasurer, to Nov. 17th, 1880, $118.25; A. S. Armstrong, services and disbursements as Marshal, $85.58; Warren Powers, feeding impounded horses, $10.

Allen, owner of grounds on north side of Main street west of the Catholic Church, personally appeared and proposed moving the fence on the south side of said grounds back to conform to the fences on adjoining lots, on condition that the Town grade and gravel the sidewalk in front of said grounds. The work of grading and graveling was ordered done, Trustees Hall and Andrews being appointed a Committee to superintend the same.

A worthless horse was ordered killed, as he is impounded and an expense to the town, and for which no bid could be secured.

A communication was received from B. F. Ready, J. W. Peck and other property owners on Fourth Street, proposing to pay for grading said street, south of Main to Oak Avenue, each in proportion to his frontage thereon. On motion it was ordered that Surveyor Everett proceed to set the necessary grade stakes along the line of street mentioned, and also on Third Street South from Oak Avenue across the lands of T. J. Dexter.

W. B. Treadwell addressed the Board on the subject of substituting the electric light for the gas light now in use, and proposed, First: To put up four lights at a prime cost of $2500 to the town; Second, To put up the same number of lights, at his own expense, the Town to pay him $100 per month for a term of five years for lighting the Town. The matter was discussed but no action taken by the Board. The Board then adjourned.

Vallejo is taxed three per cent. The State and county tax, of $1.70, the city tax of $1, and the school tax of 30 cents.

The Puget Sound Lumber Co., A. Powell, Manager, seems to be building up an immense business in the surrounding country.

During the late storm the new straw levees built by Guthrie and other farmers in Tremont township were severely tried, but stood the test.

It is reported that one of the daily trains on the California Pacific will be taken off next week. Which one is not yet known, but probably the local train which passes here at 10:49 and 12:55.

The gypsies who have been camped near town some time, charge two dollars per capita for telling fortunes. If the amount of their receipts could be ascertained, we would have an easy way of making a census of the fools.

Local option petitions have been sent here and are being signed by some. They pray the Legislature to take advantage of certain clauses in the new Constitution to authorize any town, city or county to prohibit, by popular vote, the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Mr. Sanford has shown himself to be a brave man, for few men would care to lie in wait alone for the coming of two burglars, and then resolutely attack them single-handed and capture one of them. If there was more of this work done, we would have fewer burglaries.

Night Air.

An extraordinary fallacy is the dread of night air. What other air can we breathe at night? The choice is between pure night air from without and foul air from within. Most people prefer the latter—an unaccountable choice. What will they say if it is proved to be true that nearly one-half of all the diseases we suffer are occasioned by people's sleeping with the windows shut? An opened window most nights in the year can never hurt any one. This is not to say that light is not necessary for recovery. In great cities night air is often the best and purest air to be had in twenty-four hours. I could better understand shutting the windows in town during the day than the night, for the sake of the sick. The absence of smoke, the quiet, all tend to make night the best time for airing the patient. One of our highest medical authorities on consumption and climate has told me that the air in London is never so good as after 10 o'clock at night. Always air your room then from the outside air if possible. Windows are made to open, doors are made to shut; a truth which seems extremely difficult of apprehension. Every room must be aired from without, every passage from within. But the fewer passages there are in a hospital the better.—Florence Nightingale.

Orland Times.

We are in receipt of the second number of the Orland Times, a seven column paper, printed at San Francisco and published at Orland, in this county, by J. W. Malone. Orland is a good point and destined in the near future to become a town of importance, and we hope to see it maintain a large printing office, and that the Times may prosper, and grow rich. The first lines in the local column read:

Ha! Ha! Ha!

"We should smile."

Several companion lines follow; but then the young man will learn in a few weeks that the people around Orland are not idiots, and will quit it.—Colusa Sun.

THE SUN FOR 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eye-sight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. The story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN'S habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the years immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. THE SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address I. W. ENGLAND, de16 Publisher of THE SUN, New York City.

THE GIRL FOR ME.

Just fair enough to be pretty,
Just gentle enough to be sweet,
Just saucy enough to be witty,
Just dainty enough to be neat.

Just tall enough to be graceful,
Just slight enough for a fay,
Just dress enough to be neat,
Just merry enough to be gay.

Just tears enough to be tender,
Just sighs enough to be sad,
Tones soft enough to remember,
Your heart through the cadence made glad.

Just meek enough for submission,
Just bold enough to be brave,
Just pride enough for ambition,
Just thoughtful enough to be grave.

A tongue that can talk without harming,
Just mischief enough to tease,
Manners pleasant enough to be charming,
That put you at once at your ease.

Generous enough and kind hearted,
Pure as the angels above;
Oh, from her may I never be parted,
From such as the maiden I love.

A Detective's Story.

There is a story told of a lady and gentleman traveling together on an English railroad. They were strangers to each other. Suddenly the gentlemen said:

"Madam, I will trouble you to look out of the window for a few minutes; I am going to make some changes in my wearing apparel."

"Certainly, sir," she replied with great politeness, rising and turning her back upon him. In a short time he said:

"Now, madam, my change is completed and you may resume your seat."

When the lady turned she beheld her male companion transformed into a dashing lady with a heavy veil over her face.

"Now, sir, or madam; whichever you are," said the lady, "I must trouble you to look out of the window, for I also have some changes to make in my apparel."

"Certainly, madam," and the gentleman in lady's attire immediately complied.

"Now, sir, you may resume your seat."

To his great surprise, on resuming his seat, the gentleman in female attire found his lady companion transformed into a man. He laughed and said:

"It appears that we are both anxious to escape recognition. What have you done? I have robbed a bank."

"And I," said the whilom lady, as he dexterously fettered his companion's wrists with a pair of hand-cuffs, "I am Detective ——, of Scotland Yard, and in female apparel have shadowed you for two days—now," drawing a revolver, "keep still."

Thee Must Observe these Rules.

Never send thou an article for publication without giving the editor thy name, for thy name oftimes secures a publication to worthless articles.

Thou should'st not rap on the door of the printing office, for he that answereth the rap swaereth in his sleeve and looseth time.

Neither dost thou loaf about, ask questions or knock down type, or the boys will love thee like they do shade trees, when thou leaveth.

Thou should'st never read the copy on the printer's case, or the sharp and hooked container thereof or he may knock thee down.

Never inquire thou of the editor for the news, for behold, it is his business at the appointed time to give it to thee without asking.

It is not right that thou shouldst ask him who is the author of an article, for his duty requires him to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter into his office, take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may be lying open and concerneth thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proof sheet, for it is not ready to meet thy sight as thou mayest understand.

Prefer thou thine own town paper to any other, and be sure to subscribe for it immediately.

Pay for it in advance, and it shall be well with thee and thine.

John H. Inman, of Danbridge, Tenn., came out of the army at the close of the war 20 years of age, and with less than $100 in his pocket. He married a charming Tennessee girl in 1870, and then reckoned his wealth at about $75,000. His net income last year was $190,000, and his fortune is now ab ut $1,500,000. He is just 36 years of age, in perfect health, and is just entering the prime of life.

EARS FOR THE MILLION!

Foo Choo's Balsam of Shark's Oil

Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.

This Oil is extracted from a peculiar species of small White Shark, caught in the Yellow Sea, known as Carcharodon Rondeletii. Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing were discovered by a Buddhist Priest about the year 1400. Its cures were so numerous and many so seemingly miraculous, that the remedy was officially proclaimed over the entire Empire. Its use became so universal that for over 300 years no Deafness has existed among the Chinese people. Sent, charges prepaid, to any address at $1.00 per bottle.

Only Imported by HAYLOCK & CO.,
7 Dey St., New York.

☞ SOLE AGENTS FOR AMERICA. ☜

Its virtues are unquestionable, and its curative character absolute, as the writer can personally testify, both from experience and observation.

Among the many readers of the Review in one part and another of the country, it is probable that numbers are afflicted with deafness, and to such it may be said: "Write to Lones to Haylock & Co., 7 Dey street, New York, enclosing $1, and you will receive by return a remedy that will enable you to hear like anybody else, and whose curative effects will be permanent. You will never regret doing so."—Editor of New York Mercantile Review, Sept. 25, 1880. de16w1m

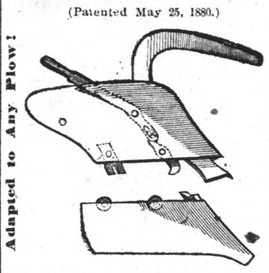
PLOW-SHARE FASTENER

(Patented May 25, 1880.)



Adapted to Any Plow! Cheap, Simple, Durable!

By means of this Fastener, PLOW-SHARES are EASILY and QUICKLY REMOVED from the mold board. There are no BOLTS or NUTS to rust and wear loose. No tedious and vexatious delays in hunting after nuts and wrenches. There is simply

A LEVER ATTACHMENT

Which is thrown back, releasing the share when another can then be put in its place, the whole operation occupying but a few seconds.

Read the following Testimonials from those who have used the Fastener:

DUNNIGAN, CAL., Aug. 1, 1880.

J. P. Patrey, Esq.—Dear Sir—I have been using your patent for fastening plow shares for some time. It saves time, labor and money, and fastens the shares as firmly as if bolted.

Yours truly, M. T. EMMERT.

SPRING VALLEY, Colusa Co., March 18, 1880.

Mr. J. P. Patrey—Dear Sir—I have used your Plow-share Fastener on a Eureka Plow, breaking up new ground in heavy timber. I frequently had to hitch the team to the end of the plow in order to release it from the stumps and rocks, and have always found the Fastener all right. Hereafter I shall use it on all my plows. J. W. JOHNS.

DUNNIGAN, Yolo Co., Cal., Jan. 26, 1880.

Mr. J. P. Patrey—Dear Sir—Your "Plow-Share Fastener" recommends itself, as no bolts are used. I can change my plow-points in a few seconds. J. A. BYERS.

DUNNIGAN, Yolo Co., Cal., July 31, 1880.

J. P. Patrey, Esq.—Dear Sir—In answer to yours of a few days since, inquiring of the Plow-Share Fastener, I wish to state that I have used the four sent me with perfect success, and consider them a very great saving in time, and would most heartily recommend them to all farmers. I will order one for each plow before the plow season begins.

Most respectfully, B. B. GLASCOCK.
